New Japan Sports Federation (NJSF) was founded on November 12th, 1965 under the denomination SHINTAI-REN. Thereafter, we changed our organization's name to the present "New Japan Sports Federation" upon our 30th anniversary in 1995. At the time of foundation, we declared, "Sports is the right of all people." We have been active since the time of foundation. We are a national organization with more than 4,000 clubs and 58,900 members and we think sports is a fundamental right, so we support everyone's pleasure of sports.

Our aim is for a healthy and cultural life. We take the development of all sports (including training) as a fundamental right of people, and we aim for the development to inherit the great value of sports.

For a Richer Society

We contribute to the realization of a richer social life to cultivate the sports mind, including fair play.

Improvement of Sports

We aim at improving the standards of competition and techniques, and to establish a coherent guidance system and a method of instruction through science.

Peaceful and Democratic Cooperation

We promote the cooperation for peace and democratic development in Japanese sports circles.

Contribution to World Peace

We will Promote goodwill and mutual understanding between foreign countries through sports, and at the same time contribute to the realization of a peaceful world.

NJSF has been active in areas like there.

A sports club is a place where people gather with a common interest to improve their technique with the cooperation of their friends.

By doing sports, you will discover yourself, develop yourself to be more humane and play a more important part as a member of your community.

By taking an active role in sports, each member becomes a leader, which is an important factor in the development of sports into true culture.

NJSF proceeds in activities such as helping sports clubs to take root and be active in the development of sports clubs from start to finish.

We hold athletic meets that anyone can participate so that they will have an environment and potential for their abilities to flower.

1

Every two years, NJSF holds a "National Festival of Sports." 7000 to 8000 athletes and officers take part in 17 events. Every other year, we hold a national championship.

2

NJSF offer courses and training for instructors and referees. Give instruction on the techniques of sports and the way of coaching. NJSF also publish books on coaching and other areas. They also hold courses for beginners as well as a teaching the skill and art of the sport.

3

Leadership training and participation in sports clubs. Holding meetings of exchange and others. The formation of self-disciplined sports clubs and group activities for athletes aiming to develop sports science.
